

```
/ Documentantation */

import java.util.Scanner;

public class CalculateLiters {

    public static void main(String args[]) {

        Scanner input;

        double milliliters;
        double liters;
        double pints;
        double remainder;

        System.out.println("Please enter the total amount in milliliters");
        input = new Scanner(System.in);
        milliliters = input.nextInt();

        // convert to liters
        liters = milliliters/1000;
        // convert to pints
        pints = liters * 2.11;

        // display to the user the total liters and pints System.out.println("You have " + liters + " liters which is = to "
        + pints + " pints");

    }

}

} // end class
```